

Dagens Ord
fra
2004

All the potencies present in the external world are present in man. The material substances constituting the human body have together very small value.

But realise how valuable the human body itself is. To animate the physical body, a vibrant power is needed.

That vibration power is derived from this Life-force.

All the activities of the body are rendered possible by this Life-force.

The Life-force itself derives its vitality from a higher source - the spirit.

Ignoring these profound truths, men are wasting their energies and lives in meaningless pursuits.

All the potencies present in the external world are present in man. The material substances constituting the human body have together very small value.

But realise how valuable the human body itself is. To animate the physical body, a vibrant power is needed.

That vibration power is derived from this Life-force.

All the activities of the body are rendered possible by this Life-force.

The Life-force itself derives its vitality from a higher source - the spirit.

Ignoring these profound truths, men are wasting their energies and lives in meaningless pursuits.

